AMERICA WORKS

424 E 147th Street (3rd & 5th Floors)
Bronx, NY 10455
(917) 801-4668

Site Director: Lolette Brown

WHO WE ARE:

America Works is a privately owned for-profit company that places our clients in private sector jobs. Through us employers gain ease in hiring, cost savings, reduced turnover, a trial period extending from temporary placement to permanent employment and highly motivated workers. No employer or worker is charged a fee for our services.

WHAT WE DO:

America Works recruits potential employees, places them in a business lab, assesses skills behavior and attitudes and brushes up skills using the latest computer technology.

HOW WE DO IT:

An employer who hires applicants through America Works typically contracts for the worker's services during the first four months of employment. During that trial period, America Works pays the employee and monitors her or his performance at meetings with employer and supervisor. Job coaching, formal evaluations and support services are available. No fewer than sixty-eight percent of those so placed by America Works placements are still on the job. When permanently hired, the average program participant earns over fifteen thousand dollars a year plus benefits, thus ceasing to be a tax burden and becoming a tax payer.

JOBS ARE FILLED:

Specializing in entry level jobs, America Works has successfully placed secretaries, data entry clerks, mail clerks, health care workers, assemblers, food service people, warehouse workers, construction and much, much more. Companies using our services range from such employers as large insurance firms and banks to small data processing and communication companies.

A PRIVATE-PUBLIC PARTNERSHIP:

America Works is partially funded by HRA, but receives full payment only after an employee has satisfactorily filled a job for six months. We are paid only for results.

THE CENTER FOR EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES (CEO)

50 Broadway, Suite 1604

New York, NY 10004

(212) 422-4430

Fax: (212) 248-4432

Deputy Executive Director: Mary Bedeau

The Center for Employment Opportunities is divided into two phases. The first phase is the vocational development phase, which involves four (4) days of job readiness classes and one-day with a job developer. The second phase of the program is the neighborhood work program, which involves short-term low skilled labor paid on a daily basis at minimum wage. The program generally requires that individuals have a non-violent conviction and be eager to begin work. They are concerned with a parolee's motivation, not necessarily his skills. After Phase Two, CEO has job placement specialists that will assist in finding permanent employment for its parolee clients.

Harbor House pioneered the treatment of homeless dually diagnosed persons within a modified therapeutic community. An integrated team of mental health and substance abuse professionals provide psychiatric assessment, medication therapy, life skills, family counseling, education, vocational training, work experience, HIV/AIDS prevention and support, and aftercare to 59 men and women. Harbor House II offers the same services to 50 men. A 5-year federally-funded study found that Harbor House produces better outcomes than comparison groups and is particularly successful in reducing symptoms of depression and psychosis and improving self-esteem.

Additionally, Harbor House and Harbor House II offer the hope for recovery and self-sufficiency to male and female mentally ill chemical abusers who are homeless. With the assistance of trained psychiatrists, registered psychiatric nurses, and a licensed clinical social worker, Harbor House offers individualized treatment tailored to different diagnoses and varying levels of functioning with the goal of enhancing their quality of life. Most Harbor House residents are discharged back into the community self-sufficient and functioning.
